The other side

The Angel of God revolves around a central character called Moosa, who is essentially a criminal. However, the book is neither about crime nor a glorification of crime – it's about the other side that each of us has. A computer programmer has a philanthropic side to him/her, a bus conductor could be an ace singer – this is about the other side of someone who is a criminal. The author Jyothi Menon has spent five years researching the book and almost three years writing it.

Jyothi is an engineer who turned to Human Relations
